DFT ES Biography

Dentistry was not my first degree, I studied Biochemistry and Biology before doing the graduate entry course at UCLan. I left in 2011 and started working at Bateman and Best as a foundation dentist and have been at the practice ever since. I have also completed an MSc in restorative and aesthetic dentistry at Manchester University and gained a distinction. This has afforded me more knowledge about treatment and how to try to execute dentistry to a better standard. Work for me is best done when you feel relaxed and happy, and I try to work with that in mind. I have had other roles in the last 11 years, including working for other practices part time. Working in different places I feel has given me more insight into the job as a whole and therefore I can advise about different job pathways. I spent a few years working at UCLan as a clinical lecturer and was predominately based on the outreach clinics. I really enjoyed the teaching role but left as I now have children and wanted to balance work with spending time with them (hopefully while they still like me). I have worked in the emergency dental service providing emergency care out of hours and to people not fortunate enough to be registered with a dentist. I find it rewarding to help if people are in pain, and with this in mind I went to Tanzania with Bridge2aid to teach locals how to take out teeth to help their communities. Outside of work I enjoy sport and I play golf as often as I am allowed. I like to travel, but the young family is keeping us closer to home. Dentistry can be a demanding job, so I try to enjoy my time out of work and this tends to mean work is also more enjoyable.
